Dear Valued Customer:

In recent months there has been a growing concern about food safety. Specifically, food supplies (containing melamine) imported from China have been targets of media scrutiny. As further information becomes available, it is apparent that carefully selecting foods to consume (and being more conscious of exactly where those foods originate) is of great importance to our customers.

Medifast is committed to providing the safest, highest-quality products. Our products are meticulously developed—with ingredients coming from vendors with reliable, carefully selected supply chains. In response to these recent food product import concerns, we conducted a thorough evaluation of all our raw ingredients—and received certifications from our vendors that none of the ingredients used to prepare Medifast products contain melamine.

Our comprehensive quality assurance policies comply with all FDA guidelines for food manufacturing as well as Good Manufacturing Practices (GMPs). We maintain the highest quality standards and are certified as an Orthodox Union Kosher facility. We pride ourselves on quality—and will continue providing our valued customers with high-quality, safe and effective Medifast products.
